

Additional resources:

1. Read the following sections in The Bethesda Book for Reporting Cervical Cytology 3rd Edition (Ed: Ritu Nayar and David Wilbur).

Non-neoplastic findings

- 2.3.2.2 Endometrial cells Pages 35-36

Epithelial abnormalities: Squamous

- 5.8.3 HSIL: pattern resembling endometrial cells and repair Pages 160-162
- Table 5.1 Pages 176-177

Epithelial abnormalities: Glandular

- 6.4 Atypical endometrial cells Pages 206-210
- 6.9.2 Endometrial adenocarcinoma Pages 228-233

2. ThinPrep images are available on the Hologic (commercial company) website.

www.cytologystuff.com

- Click on Study, then on GYN Atlas
- Click on Negative for intraepithelial lesion or malignancy, then scroll down the list until you come to Benign-appearing endometrial cells
- Click on Epithelial Cell abnormalities – Glandular Cells, then click on Endometrial adenocarcinoma